

Cascadia Water Trail Campsites

Shaw County Park The San Juan Islands

On summer days, visitors to Shaw Country Park may find pleasurable swimming in Indian Cove. Warmer water temperatures are created by exposure to long hours of sunlight and the cove's shallow depths. The scene is completed by the beautiful sandy beach. Once a military reservation, the 60-acre property is now preserved by San Juan County Parks. The park has 3,249 feet of shoreline.

Natural History.

Squaw Bay, to the east, is a favored dining spot for birds at low tides and is surrounded by private property. At last count, the human population fo the island was 235.
